

West Michigan Inclusion Network Presents...

Looking at Autism Spectrum Disorder Differently

Maureen Ziegler, Ed.S., Autism Intervention Specialist, Grand Valley State University

This presentation will provide specific inclusive strategies that are effective when educating students with autism spectrum disorder. Some of the strategies presented will include: pairing, making associations, preferred activities, and visual organization. The strategies provided are effective when trying to moderate and manage behaviors of students with autism spectrum disorder. Participants may leave with a new and helpful perspective when working with students with autism spectrum disorder.

Date: May 31, 2006
Time: 7:00—9:00 pm
Location: Eberhard Center, GVSU
301 W. Fulton (Second Floor)

RSVP 616 889 3808 info@wmin.org visit us on the web www.wmin.org

Save the dates...
Unversial Education Conference on April 28, 2006 and 7th Annual Conference on Inclusive Education
Friday, October 27, 2006